Blind SQL Injection

Severity	High
Type	Validation
Reported by module	Scripting (Blind_Sql_Injection.script)

Description

This script is possibly vulnerable to SQL Injection attacks.

SQL injection is a vulnerability that allows an attacker to alter backend SQL statements by manipulating the user input. An SQL injection occurs when web applications accept user input that is directly placed into a SQL statement and doesn't properly filter out dangerous characters.

This is one of the most common application layer attacks currently being used on the Internet. Despite the fact that it is relatively easy to protect against, there is a large number of web applications vulnerable.

Impact

An attacker may execute arbitrary SQL statements on the vulnerable system. This may compromise the integrity of your database and/or expose sensitive information.

Depending on the back-end database in use, SQL injection vulnerabilities lead to varying levels of data/system access for the attacker. It may be possible to not only manipulate existing queries, but to UNION in arbitrary data, use subselects, or append additional queries. In some cases, it may be possible to read in or write out to files, or to execute shell commands on the underlying operating system.

Certain SQL Servers such as Microsoft SQL Server contain stored and extended procedures (database server functions). If an attacker can obtain access to these procedures it may be possible to compromise the entire machine.

Recommendation

Your script should filter metacharacters from user input.
Check detailed information for more information about fixing this vulnerability.

CRLF injection/HTTP response splitting

Severity	High
Type	Validation
Reported by module	Scripting (CRLF_Injection.script)

Description

This script is possibly vulnerable to CRLF injection attacks.

HTTP headers have the structure "Key: Value", where each line is separated by the CRLF combination. If the user input is injected into the value section without properly escaping/removing CRLF characters it is possible to alter the HTTP headers structure.

HTTP Response Splitting is a new application attack technique which enables various new attacks such as web cache poisoning, cross user defacement, hijacking pages with sensitive user information and cross-site scripting (XSS). The attacker sends a single HTTP request that forces the web server to form an output stream, which is then interpreted by the target as two HTTP responses instead of one response.

Impact

Is it possible for a remote attacker to inject custom HTTP headers. For example, an attacker can inject session cookies or HTML code. This may conduct to vulnerabilities like XSS (cross-site scripting) or session fixation.

Recommendation

You need to restrict CR(0x13) and LF(0x10) from the user input or properly encode the output in order to prevent the injection of custom HTTP headers.

HTML form without CSRF protection

Severity	Medium
Type	Informational
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This alert may be a false positive, manual confirmation is required.

Cross-site request forgery, also known as a one-click attack or session riding and abbreviated as CSRF or XSRF, is a type of malicious exploit of a website whereby unauthorized commands are transmitted from a user that the website trusts.

Acunetix WVS found a HTML form with no apparent CSRF protection implemented. Consult details for more information about the affected HTML form.

Impact

An attacker may force the users of a web application to execute actions of the attacker's choosing. A successful CSRF exploit can compromise end user data and operation in case of normal user. If the targeted end user is the administrator account, this can compromise the entire web application.

Recommendation

Check if this form requires CSRF protection and implement CSRF countermeasures if necessary.

Sensitive page could be cached

Severity	Low
Type	Informational
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

This page contains possible sensitive information (e.g. a password parameter) and could be potentially cached. Even in secure SSL channels sensitive data could be stored by intermediary proxies and SSL terminators. To prevent this, a Cache-Control header should be specified.

Impact

Possible sensitive information disclosure.

Recommendation

Prevent caching by adding "Cache Control: No-store" to the page headers.

Password type input with autocomplete enabled

Severity	Informational
Type	Informational
Reported by module	Crawler

Description

When a new name and password is entered in a form and the form is submitted, the browser asks if the password should be saved. Thereafter when the form is displayed, the name and password are filled in automatically or are completed as the name is entered. An attacker with local access could obtain the cleartext password from the browser cache.

Impact

Possible sensitive information disclosure

Recommendation

The password autocomplete should be disabled in sensitive applications.

To disable autocomplete, you may use a code similar to:

```
<INPUT TYPE="password" AUTOCOMPLETE="off">
