Effective Executive PA: Exceptional Skills

A Personal & Executive Assistant needs to be flexible, adaptable and have the ability to work on their own initiative. The job of the Executive Assistant is challenging and requires a high level of administrative, organisational, interpersonal and I.T. skills. They often have a senior role within an organisation - delegating clerical tasks to junior staff and may travel locally, nationally or internationally to attend meetings or conferences with their managers; organising conferences, exhibitions, drafting press releases and dealing with some aspects of P. R.

Communications, Executive and Personal Assistants need to ensure they own the aptitude, skills and a talent to match the evolving needs of their Managers and the organisation. It is therefore crucial to build on foundation skills to effectively manage tasks that come their way in a manner that will impact positively on themselves and their Managers.

A positive learning environment will see attendees enhancing their skill level essential for EAs and PAs who are seeking support and training on this topic.

Benefits of attending

- Managing Multiple Priorities
- Optimizing your own productivity
- Sharpening Your Time Management skills
- Maximising performance to highest abilities
- Enhancing your career prospects as a P. A.
- Increasing the effectiveness of your team
- Understanding & resolving conflicts
- Managing an increased workload
- Extending the knowledge-base beyond the demands

Online Pre Conference Questionnaire & Tailored Conference Sessions:

Conference sessions will be tailored by the Pre Conference Questionnaire which will be provided to the delegates post registrations & by receiving the inputs from delegates the same will be forwarded to speakers for customization.
